WIN BACK
COAL MINES

DRIVE NETS IMPORTANT GAINS IN SOUCHEZ VALLEY WHICH IS INUNDATED AS A GERMAN DEFENSE.

STORM DEADMAN'S HILL

Germans Continue Violent Attacks In Verdun Sector and Claim Gains on the Alsatian Front.

(By Associated Press)

Canadian Headquarters in France, June 29, via London, June 30.—Success unexpectedly great and complete at a cost in casualties far less than in some recent unimportant engagements, attended the drive during the past week of the Canadians along the valley of Souchez toward Lens.

Recover Coal Mines
The land restored to France includes some of her most productive coal mines.

Living out in the water-soaked ground along the Souchez river this afternoon, still under fire, are the troops who attacked the enemy at 2:30 and at seven a. m. Thursday in the outskirts of Avion and pressed forward toward the western part of the valley. The Germans had taken part in a third attack within twenty-four hours. This was launched at seven o'clock last night, and after they had once again reached the goal set for them, they surrendered to the sleep of utter exhaustion in a downpour of rain.

Dam Souchez River.
The situation on Friday is regarded as most satisfactory. The enemy by damming the Souchez river, and by other means, have placed a belt of inundated land between himself and the Canadian troops along a front of more than a mile. The inundations are a cover to a weakness the enemy would not have betrayed even a few months ago, because they betrayed his intentions to wage defensive warfare.

There are daily increasing signs that the German manpower is no longer what it was. The number of enemy troops in the field shows little decrease, but the spirit of the men is no longer that of an assured victory. A prisoner taken yesterday spoke of the process of disintegration of the German people are now going through. If the war does not end soon, he said, there will be a revolution in Germany.

Germans Well Nourished.

This changed spirit is not due to under feeding. Most of the German prisoners are well nourished. A German guardman, at least six feet four inches, was captured, fought like a lion until he was badly wounded.

The change in their idea as to how the war will end is all the more significant because it was not brought about by hunger or privation.

Germans Win Trenches.

Berlin, via London, June 30.—German troops, yesterday captured several enemy posts south of La Bovelle farm on the Aisne front, army headquarters announced today.

A line of 500 meters in length on the eastern slope of Hill 304, northwest of Verdun, was also captured, the official statement reports.

Russians Plan Attack.

London, June 30.—Russian activities in East Galicia, says today, German official statement, indicate attacks are intended.

Strong Rumanian destructive fire, the German general staff reports, has been maintained from the Lemberg-Brudy railroad to the south of Przemyz.

Storm Dead Man's Hill.

Paris, June 30.—The Germans resumed their violent attack on the Verdun front west of Dead Man's hill, last night, the war office announced.

Picked German troops advanced on a rector of one and three-fourths miles and were almost annihilated by the French.

The Germans penetrated the first French line over the entire front at attacks, but were driven out excepting on the western slopes of Dead Man's hill.

The French made a counter attack west of Hill 304 and took back most of the trenches lost Thursday.

On the Aisne front, the Germans attacked northeast of Chateau, employing smoke and gas. They occupied a salient after the defenses had been leveled by shell fire, but were repulsed elsewhere.

Capture German Positions.

London, June 30.—A series of strongly organized defensive systems on both banks of the Souchez, covering Lens, have been captured officially today. In their recent operations, the British have advanced more than a mile on the front of four miles about Lens.

Italians Withdraw.

Rome, via London, June 30.—British wireless press. The war office announces that the Italian advance posts were withdrawn last night from Trent Agnello path on the front of the new Trent owing to the prolonged and violent bombardment by the Austrians. The Italians still hold the eastern end of the path.

NAMES MADISON MAN
ON EDUCATION BOARD

Madison, Wis., June 30.—Charles H. Vilas, was today elected regent member of the state board of education of succeeding Dr. Gilbert D. Seaman of Milwaukee. Dr. Vilas will hold office during the unexpired term of Dr. Seaman to August 1, and also the full term of two years.

The board also announced the election of Theodore M. Hammond, Waukesha, as president of the board; Dr. C. H. Van Hise, Madison, vice-president; and the re-election of Prof. H. J. Thorkelson and M. C. McCaffrey, as business manager and secretary, respectively.

LANDIS' MORAL BROOM WILL SWEEP FREEPORT

La Crosse, Wis., June 29.—Judge Landis telegraphed here today that he found conditions so serious at Freeport, Ill., that court here would be postponed until July 16, at which time the famous "Bob" Shields Mann case will be tried.

BRITISH DROP MANY BOMBS, BUT NOT ON HELPLESS WOMEN AND CHILDREN

British airman in the act of dropping a bomb.

In the matter of dropping high explosive bombs on helpless women and children in sleeping cities, the Germans easily hold the world's record. The British refuse to retaliate. General Haig reports, however, that British airmen drop one hundred bombs on German soldiers, ammunition depots, etc., every time the Germans drop a single bomb back of the British first line trenches.

WOMEN LEARN FACTS
ON CANNING METHODS

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN IN DEMONSTRATIONS HELD FRIDAY
AT JEFFERSON AND HIGH SCHOOLS.

WILL ORGANIZE CLUBS

Large Number of Young Women Will Enlist in Local Movement to Down High Cost of Living.

"Reduce the high cost of living" will be the slogan for the women of Janesville, if the enthusiasm shown at yesterday's meetings is any criterion. A hundred ladies gathered in the high school about the time the science demonstration, where the canning demonstration was held. In fact, such numbers appeared that chairs were placed in the adjoining room and the hall, to accommodate the crowd. Elderly ladies, matrons and young girls all appeared equally interested and note books were in evidence with all.

Miss Carrie Mae Hugunin was the expert in charge of the demonstration and she preceded the demonstration with a general talk on the subject of bacteria and sterilization. Strawberries and asparagus were the fruit and vegetable used in the lesson and special directions were given for each. A small gas stove and simple equipment furnished the things needed for the lesson. After the demonstration was concluded Miss Hugunin said it was the earnest desire of the state government that the girls in every community organize canning clubs. With this plan in mind, she asked that all girls who could join the classes be asked to register their names. It would be absolutely free and two young ladies, Miss Hayes and Miss Doris Amerpohl, would lead the groups of girls and give them instruction in the canning process. Later on lessons in drying fruits and vegetables would be given.

Mr. S. M. Smith, an informant, said "that she was beginning to think that the women of Janesville could do great things, and that although this first meeting might seem but a small beginning, yet it might accomplish a truly wonderful work."

Miss Grace Mount also spoke along the line of co-operation. She said that there were many problems for housekeepers to solve especially now when saving every penny counted, when saving every penny counted, when saving every penny counted.

The said that the earnest wish of the women who were back of this movement was "to hold back of hands and hearts wherever possible." That being the case, the canning demonstrations will be started in schools and crochet work for girls, help given to young mothers who desire assistance on children's clothes and simple patterns furnished for the same. People who had fruit to donate them. Also the plan being considered that the gardens surplus vegetables appeared in the gardens to sell them as cheaply as possible to those needing them.

The question of future work was taken up and it was decided to hold meetings on next Thursday at the high school at nine o'clock and at two o'clock. An informal experience meeting brought out a simple process of making soap, the canning of lettuce and how to get rid of the small, brown ants from those present.

At the Jefferson school building as large an audience appeared from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five being present. The demonstration was made by Miss Elizabeth Fulton and was held in a large glass room of the training school on the third floor. Miss Helen Taylor and Miss Jeannette Ryan served as assistants to Miss Fulton, and asparagus and peas were the vegetables used in the canning process. Miss Mount was in charge of arrangements and Mrs. A. F. Hall was made chairman of a committee for future meetings.

Miss Caroline Zeininger gave a talk along the line of co-operation in the conservation of foods ad Mrs. Percy Munger described the process of manufacturing home-made soap. Names were taken of young girls who wished to join prospective canning clubs and plans were made for future meetings, which will be announced later.

The movement seems to be a popular one, which will accomplish great things in household economics and things such as is entitled to the support of everyone. As far as possible, the names and addresses of all attending meetings were taken, that bulletins may be sent to them later.

HUNDRED MILLIONS IN EXCESS
HELD BY CLEARING HOUSES

(By Associated Press)

Regina, Sask., June 30.—All grain crops in Saskatchewan are making rapid progress and prospects are very encouraging, according to reports made public last night by the department of agriculture. Wheat is now in the short blade in many places. Frosts have retarded the growth in many sections, but the grain averages from eight to ten inches in height. Sufficient rain has now fallen to insure good growth and warm weather is needed generally.

THE DAILY GAZETTE

NEW YORK, JUNE 30.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they had $104,320 in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $2,987,000 over last week.

ONLY 20,000 ANSWER
REGULAR ARMY CALL;
DRAFT ONLY COURSE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 30.—President Wilson's calls for volunteers to bring the regular army up to its full war strength to 300,000 men by today has not been realized. War department figures indicate there is a shortage of 50,000. This discrepancy probably will be relieved by taking reservists from ranks of the new selective army.

With "recruiting week" at an end, only nine states have furnished complete quotas required. They are Nevada, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Wyoming.

WILL RAISE CROPS
FOR THE RED CROSS

(By Associated Press)

St. Paul, June 30.—Patriotic farmers of Washington county, a populous and prosperous community lying near the Twin Cities, have agreed to devote the crops of an acre and a half of every farm to the Red Cross.

The plan has been designated "The Washington County Idea," and hopes are expressed that many other communities, not only in Minnesota, but all the country, will adopt a similar patriotic and humanitarian plan.

According to a story of the Washington County Idea, published today in a St. Paul farm journal, the plan originated at a meeting in the county seat, Stillwater, at which R. A. Wilkinson was elected president of the Washington County committee. The Twin Cities, have agreed to devote the crops of an acre and a half of every farm to the Red Cross.

Chumley Moserup hit on the plan and it was at once put into effect. It was argued that farmers could more easily spare the crop from a given piece of land, than its value in money during the harvest season, and in order to make the "idea" a success, the committee members, assisted by city and village business men solicited the owners or tenants of 1,500 farms in Washington county to obtain their participation. The result was gratifying. Practically every farmer at once agreed to the plan.

It is estimated that at least $25,000 will be raised through the operation of the plan.

GOVERNMENT ACTION
HALTS WHEAT TRADE

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 30.—Almost a complete ban in wheat trading for future delivery has been brought about since a week ago by authoritative statements that the federal government would soon take entire control of all dealing in the cereal. It is inferred that the government's scale of prices will be somewhat below the prevailing level has had much to do with that quotations this morning were off 2% to 9 cents, as compared with corresponding time last week. Corn finished 3¢ off to 14¢, up oats gained 1 to 1½ and provisions lost 4¢ to 80 cents.

PROMINENT CHICAGO MAN TO BE BURIED IN DELAWARE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Delavan, Wis., June 30.—William Webb Coup, whose death occurred at his home in Chicago yesterday, will be brought to Delavan on a special car for burial this evening at about past five. Mr. Coup was the principal stockholder and treasurer of the Geneva Optical Company, and had formerly served as cashier of the Chicago Northwestern railroad. He has spent many years of his youth in Delavan and has always kept up his acquaintance with the city in frequent visits.

Mr. Coup was fifty years old and was born in New York. He leaves a wife, and two cousins of this city, Mrs. William Tyrell and Mrs. J. Phoenix. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock from the home of William Tyrell. The Reverend Marc Miller of Christ Episcopal church will officiate. Interment will be made in this city, beside the graves of his father and mother.

BRITISH DROP MANY BOMBS, BUT NOT
ON HELPLESS WOMEN AND CHILDRENBrazil's Navy Aids
U. S. Fleet Hunting
German Sea Raiders

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 30.—Brazil's navy has been co-operating with the American fleet in South American waters in hunting down German sea raiders, and watching for German submarines.

The sending of a special diplomatic mission to Brazil to arrange for greater coordination of forces and the closest possible cooperation of the two governments is now under consideration by the United States.

Wilson's formal declaration of war Brazil thus practically has joined the United States against Germany. Coincident with the inauguration of Brazil's navy operations, plans for protecting her merchant ships in their voyages to allied ports with frozen meat and other food stuffs, have been put into effect.

What Brazil will supplement her action by a formal declaration of war is not known here and by some officials such action is regarded as doubtful because the government at Rio de Janeiro is inclined to regard its action rather defensive than aggressive.

Scotland Glad U. S. Jumped Into Fray; Edinburg Dignitaries Dine Newspapermen

(NOTE.—The following is the first of a series of three mail stories by Louis Mallett, correspondent, telling of war conditions as seen by him on a recent trip through Scotland.)

Edinburgh, June 30.—Scotland is glad America came in. Edinburgh gives it to a group of peripatetic newspapermen.

The newspapermen, stopping in Scotland's capital enroute to the British cruiser fleet, received a welcome that could scarcely have been exceeded had the number included President Wilson and Andrew Carnegie.

They were vastly bewildered for a while, but the meaning became clear in time. Scotland has been greatly thrilled by the action of the United States and today's humble visitors offered the first opportunity for a real celebration.

This accounted for the bringing forth of the American flag. It accounted for the elaborately arranged though simply arranged—banquet, in the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, the Lord Justice of Scotland speaking and every dignitary the state banqueting hall would hold occupying a place at the table.

Explained the serious session of the magistrates on the question of whether the dinner should be wet or dry, a question that really was settled in the manner it was thought would be the most pleasing to the visitors. A committee of municipal magistrates themselves took the newspapermen in tow, led them to the topmost top of Edinburgh castle and the innermost sanctum of Holyrood palace. And local newspapermen accompanied to record the impressions of the distinguished American journalists.

Everything partook of the nature of a peacetime holiday, rather than serious, active business, an illusion easily achieved in Scotland where the war has meant actual prosperity, instead of the reverse. Desolation is seen to thousands of homes where there is no other material evidence of the war, save for killed Highlanders.

The closeness of the relations between Scotland and America was emphasized again and again.

On Wednesday after another asked for information concerning relatives in various parts of the United States whom he thought some of the visitors might know.

And when the speeches had been made and the toasts to the King and the president drunk and the director in his sacrist robes had led the throng in his hooded cloak, that apparently constituted his principal official duty, the city and state dignitaries clasped hands with their guests around the table and sang a song worth going all the way to Edinburgh to hear:

"Will ye no come again?"

The Liquor Traffic vs. Our Country. The following is an editorial from the American Issue of June 23, 1917, that may be of interest to our readers.

"Under the terrific pressure of the world war, the conservation of food supplies, particularly grain supplies, has become a factor of the most vital importance. The world issues are likely to be determined by economic pressure, instead of by the issue at arms. It is quite likely that the conservation of grain, the food supply of the world, will win or lose the war.

"It is proposed that America, as a national defense measure, cease the wastage of upwards of two hundred millions of bushels of grain in the continuance of the war.

"But this naturally interferes with the saloon business, just as the conscription of men interferes with the sports of things and ambitions.

"It interferes with life itself. The selected young man, whose whole life is interfered with, says, 'Yes, I am ready to lay down my life for the flag.'

"The fond mother whose happiness and whose life is interfered with, says, 'Yes, take my son. Take both of my sons.'

"The liquor man alone balks. He says, 'You shall not interfere with my business. To hell with the country! To his red-nosed customer he says, 'If whiskey interferes with your country, give up your country.'

"The young men of the nation are ready and eager to spill their blood for the nation. When the young man is asked to spill his beer for the nation, he swells up and says, 'Rauss mit you. I won't do it.'

Question.—What can I do for cutworms? They are taking my tomato plants by cutting off the stem just above the ground.

Answer.—Mix one ounce of Paris green, with six pounds of bran and enough molasses to make into balls.

Scatter these at night about the plants you wish to protect. The tomato plants will not prefer these to other plants. In the morning you may remove the balls. If you have chickens running about that are likely to get onto the field in the morning before you do, I would suggest that you shut them up before you go to bed. To avoid danger from poison bait you may use a collar of paste put over the plant and dress it down in the soil about the plant. This little paste fence is a barrier the worms cannot get over and the plant is protected.

These solutions may be applied

with a sprinkler can or by taking a

whisk broom and dipping it into the solution and sprinkling it on the plants. Care should be taken to get the under side of the leaves. If the bush is not too large the branches may be dipped into the solution instead of having it sprayed on them.

The following directions for making a stock solution should be observed as that which is carelessly or improperly made may cause injury to the plants.

These directions are for a stock solution which must be diluted before use.

Kerosene Emulsion—Stock Solution.

Disolve 3/4 cake of Ivory soap with 1/2 pint of boiling water. Pour the solution into 1 pint of kerosene in a Mason jar. Screw on the cap tightly and shake violently 5 minutes, when a creamy emulsion mixture will be formed by making bubbles of wood

12x2 inches, and about 6 inches high, and covering them with screen or with cheese cloth. These frames are put over the hills and kept on them until the plants are large enough to withstand the ravages of the bugs.

This latter method is the one used by the writer. . . .

Question.—The leaves on my snow-bush are curling up and spoiling the looks of the bush and the blossoms.

Can you tell me what I can do to stop it?

Answer.—Strong soap suds or an 80% kerosene emulsion thoroughly mixed ought to remedy this trouble, which is occasioned by a sucking insect.

These solutions may be applied

with a sprinkler can or by taking a

whisk broom and dipping it into the solution and sprinkling it on the plants. Care should be taken to get

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

In this stupendous crisis
That fronts the land today,
And calls for dauntless service.
What part shall business play?
Has it the far flung vision
The courage legal and true
To back our fighting forces
And see the conflict through?

Behind the men in trenches,
And those at sea, must stand
The brains and craft of business
To serve and to command;
To mobilize the riches
Of mine and shop and farm
—The nation's whole resources,
Which drive its fighting arm.

This is the work of business
A job so huge and vast
It dwarfs all other labors
Throughout the ages past;
A test of true devotion
To all that's highest, best,
In love and loyal service,
Will business meet the test?

—Berton Bradley.

The last line of this little poem, "Will business meet the test?" is a question, and it is safe to answer emphatically, "Yes!" The splendid showing made by the people of the country in the Liberty bond campaign, as well as in the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross movement, was fully shared by the business men, and much of the canvassing was done by this class of men.

The business man is known as the "middle man." The man who acts as a clearing house between the producer and consumer. He is often maligned and abused and all sorts of efforts have been made to dispense with his services, with but little to show in results.

Good schools are always a credit to a town and churches speak of morality, but the school and the church never make a town. The prosperity of all centers of population, be they large or small, depends upon the success of the business men, and the reason why so many towns and small inland cities are dwarfed and stunted is because the constituency which should patronize and support them, spends its money with mail order houses for all commodities except the doctor and undertaker.

The world war in which we have engaged, creates many new and strange experiences. The issue is so broad and philanthropic that it is difficult to grasp, and volunteers for the colors are slow to respond, and conscription became necessary if we were to have an army.

But war demands so many kinds of service that volunteers have been called for in every department, and it is gratifying to note how freely the country has responded. People who are not engaged in business do not realize just what this voluntary service means, in a financial way, to business men.

They have calls every day for money for some philanthropy or charity connected with the war. They not only give freely to the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A., but they sacrifice time and money in soliciting funds to aid in every worthy enterprise.

The business men of the country are also subject to financial conscription. Between state and national legislation they face tax burdens which in some cases amount to confiscation and ruin. It is safe to say that they will do their share in bearing the war burdens.

The Liberty loan, which was supposed to be a popular loan, would have been a failure but for the banks and business men. Hundreds of millions of dollars which might have been invested, are still idle. Many people made the excuse that money was worth five per cent and they would not loan it at three and one-half. They failed to appreciate the fact that the difference between five and three and one-half per cent is only $1.50 a year on a $100. bond, and they missed the opportunity to make this small patriotic donation to the government which has done so much for them.

Statistics show that there are about 750,000 merchants in this country, men who are engaged in the important work of distribution. While these men are recognized distinctively as business men they have no monopoly on the title, because much of the best business brain of the country is devoted to industries and transportation, and mining and development, and every other channel of accomplishment.

The principles of business are in demand in every calling, and if they were adopted and more generally observed success would crown effort, where failure often occurs. The thrifty farmer is usually a good business man and the thrifty housewife is always well informed on the butter and egg market.

In driving through the country it is a pleasure to note that many Rock county houses are thrifty homes, but it is a surprise to the observer to note that the County Board, which represents them as their business agent, should permit expensive road machinery to rust and rot by the side of the highway from winter until spring.

In days gone by it was an uncommon thing to see farm machinery out in the field all winter, but those days are past. There is every reason why public property should be as well cared for, and public servants, who are accountable, should be held responsible. This is simply business of the practical sort.

But this digression has nothing to do with the topic under discussion. It is simply thrown in as a suggestion. The thing which appeals to the tourist in driving through the country today is the fact that every acre of land and every garden spot is under high cultivation. This is true of all sections of the country, showing that the great agricultural army is alive to the situation.

So while some of us are sending our boys to the front, thus making the most supreme sacrifice, other hearts and hands are not idle, and the bond of human sympathy, which has already come to us as a people, will strengthen as time advances.

This means more than a national asset, because we are touching elbows with the lands across the sea today.

as never before, and the brotherhood of man has taken on new significance. The war, upon which we have entered, will mean much in the way of sacrifice, but it will be good for us, because we had become a self-centered, pleasure-loving people, and some great tragedy was necessary to arrest us and make us think.

The tragedy is here and we are thinking seriously as a people for the first time in a life time. Our boys are in Paris with the great battle front less than one hundred miles away. Thought is producing action, and when the American people act, as a unit, something happens.

The Kaiser and his official family ridicule the idea of our entering the war, but ridicule is as cheap as automatic egotism. America is not only in the war but the nation will be in the finish, for the issue is too vital to admit of defeat.

In the meantime there is patriotic work for everybody and willing hands are responding so freely that a feeling of pride and satisfaction warms the heart. There will dawn a day when peace and freedom will come to bless the world, and in that glad day America will join in the hallelujah chorus, because the nation responded to the call of down-trodden humanity.

CONTROL OF THE AIR.

If the United States wants to do something right off quick to help end the war, it should not rest content with the tardy training of troops to show up in a year from now. It should get busy on the big air fleet that the war department is calling for.

Aeroplanes are the one part of war machinery that can be put together on short notice. The great number of automobile factories provide us a complete equipment for airplane manufacture. The American people can use their own old pleasure cars a year longer if necessary, so that a big air fleet can be created.

It would revolutionize conditions on the French front. With the German airmen overpowered, their artillery would shoot blindfolded. They would have to depend on long distance observation from the rear, which is out of date. Fire thus directed can often be dodged.

A big American fleet could secure control of the air and there is no limit to the damage it could do. Conditions behind the lines could be made as perilous as the trenches, and Fritz would feel like turning tail for the Rhine. Give 'em the money, congress.

Kerosene For the Com- ing Automobile

Many interesting facts can be told in connection with the automobile that used only kerosene for its motive power. Kerosene is only one-third the price of gasoline. Crude oil contains 60% kerosene, 15% gasoline, 25% oil and other by-products.

Present demand for gasoline is now so great that it exceeds its supply by a large margin, while kerosene is a drug on the market. Soonters have to pay a premium and substitute for gasoline and a market for kerosene.

These perplexing problems have been solved by Abner Fable and associate engineers of Detroit, in his invention of a new Steam Automobile which uses only kerosene for its motive power. A big seven passenger car will run fifteen miles on a gallon of nine cent kerosene, and eight thousand miles on a gallon of lubricating oil.

The automobile will not make fifteen miles on one gallon of gasoline and it requires twenty times the amount of lubricating oil to run it.

Millions are waiting for this car. It will soon arrive, for Abner Fable and associates write THE RITTER AUTO MOBILE COMPANY, Madison, Wisconsin. Factory Distributors of the Detroit Steam Car, for South Western Wisconsin.

EVEN 50 OASES IN CITY; COMMISSION GRANTS LICENSES

39. Dramshops, 8 Drug Stores, and 3
Brewery Agencies Get Licenses—Money to Co. M. and Bathing Beach.

The city commission yesterday afternoon appropriated $150 for the construction of a bathhouse at the Goose Island bathing beach, gave Co. M. a local pride's donation of half a hundred dollars to be used in its efforts to recruit. On Friday, F. A. Fitch, the appointment of three members to the library board, ordered an automobile not to exceed $400 in cost for the city engineer, and gave thirty-nine saloonkeepers, three brewery agencies and eight druggists license to sell liquor.

The appropriations were made with little discussion intervening, although opinion was given and was expressed that the Rock County Council of Defense should take up the matter of financial aid to the military organization, the donation coming from the fund voted the council by the county supervisors. However, and regardless, the commission voted the soldier boys $50.

Superintendent of Streets Goodman was authorized to purchase an automobile for the city engineer's department, the cost not to exceed $400. Increased work of the city engineer has made this a necessity for several years past.

The liquor question passed without any discussion and licensees were voted to the following:

Thos. F. Abbott, 21 S. Main; Paul W. Mill; Wm. H. Harry, Bishop, 220 W. Mill; Wm. Doos, 29 N. Academy; Chas. Burges, 20 N. Franklin; Herman Burges, 24 S. River; John Casey, 405 W. Thompson, 14 E. Mill; Harry Van Gilder, 10 N. Main; T. S. E. Mill; W. N. Main; E. B. Williams, 500 W. Mill; and Herb L. Williams, 125 Franklin.

Three outside breweries given agency licenses were: John Gund Co., Jos. Schlitz Co., and the Val Blatz Co.

Eight druggists requested and were granted "pharmacists" permits to sell strong, spirituous and other liquors in quantities less than one gallon for medicinal or scientific purposes, and not to be drunk on the premises."

Those getting them were: W. T. Sherer, Wm. Pfennig, Geo. E. King, McCue and Buss, Smith Drug Co., L. J. McCarthy, F. C. Bunt and J. P. Baker.

STATE DEPARTMENT ORDER BARS ALIEN ENEMIES FROM RED CROSS WAR SERVICE

All persons of German, Austrian or Bulgarian descent will be barred from service with any Red Cross unit at the front if a recent order emanating from the state department is enforced. The Milwaukee unit, in which Miss Isabel MacLean has enlisted, will lose a large number of the fifty-six nurses as a result of the order, as well as several of the doctors and internes which comprise the staff and internees which comprise the staff.

Whether this will result in the disbanding of the entire unit is not known as yet, though Miss Stella Matthews, who is in charge of recruiting nurses for the unit, declared that the order would remove all but a few were it enforced.

As has been misconstrued by some people, the order does not prevent people descended from these nationalities from working for the Red Cross, but applies only to those enlisted for service at the battle front.

SPEAKERS ON THIS YEAR'S CHAUTAUQUA CAREFULLY CHOSEN

Whole Program of Six Days' Chautauqua Arranged to be of Real Value to the Community.

With the realization of the great trials through which the country is now passing and the consequent need of focusing the patriotism and effort of every community on worthwhile things, the program which goes to make up the six day Lincoln Chautauqua, which opens here Monday evening, with a big play festival for the children, has been carefully planned along the most constructive yet entertaining lines.

Though they all tend toward the same end, wholesome entertainment, practical education and social uplift, there is a wide diversity of artists which will appeal to the most varied tastes. The local chautauqua association made a careful survey of Janesville prior to completing arrangements for the programs, with the result that many people regarded it as an event of vital importance in the life of the community, rather than a mere expenditure of money on pleasant but useless enterainment. The speakers who will appear here represent some of the most advanced thought in the country along their own particular lines. Ira Landrith, who perhaps is the most distinguished orator on the program, needs no introduction to Janesville's people; his record as a thinker and as a builder stands out pre-eminently even in this day of big men.

One feature of unusual interest will be the address given by Chief Taban, "The civilized Indian on the subject 'From Savagery to Civilization.' Chief Taban is a product of the new development of the Indians and tells his story with a simple directness and strength that captivates his audiences. Chief Taban, with Tom Corwin, will be the speakers on the first day, Tuesday, of the Chautauqua series; the latter is an unique figure among American entertainers, possessed of an acutely developed faculty for imitation that is guaranteed to draw a laugh out of a cigar store Indian.

Another feature of the first day's program is Bland's Collegians, a group of young college men in a musical entertainment which runs from songs and string numbers, to a miniature brass band.

Each day's program is divided into two parts, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, with another special feature each morning in the Youths' Chautauqua, opening at half past nine, when all the children of the city are invited to come for games and play under the skillful leadership of play directors. This special opens with the play festival on Saturday evening, and continues throughout the week, growing better each day. Though it is planned essentially for the children, all parents and teachers are urged to be present at those meetings, that they may see just what carefully directed play may accomplish along the educational lines.

"Play is the natural product of a child's life," said A. S. Krotz, president of the local association, in speaking of this new feature of the Chautauqua, "and the proper way to reach the soul of a child to build him into the good citizen is through this channel. Unless they are directed, children do not know how to play, and their distorted games may be deteriorating in their moral effect rather than of a wholesome, upbuilding nature. Even a week of carefully supervised games and play can do much toward turning them along the right channels, and it is with this in view that the Youths' Chautauqua has been aranged."

Resume of the Week's Program of Moving Pictures

(By Mrs. Abbie Helms.)

The Majestic had snow scenes of Alaska in its drama, "Pardners," on Saturday. On Sunday the offering was Anita Stewart in "A Million Bids." The story was that of an ambitious mother breaking up a love match and marrying her daughter to a millionaire. He has offered a million dollars for his wife's hand, but she is supposed to be killed in a shipwreck and returns to find her wife wedded to her first love. He providentially dies in an operation, which is a great relief to everyone. Peggy Hyland, in "Babette," was the midweek story, which told of a crook who was worried by a great love for a little Normandy lass, and for her sake agreed to live in Paris. In studio in Paris, show their safety amid poverty, and under the stress of the little wife's illness the man again commits a theft. He is saved from imprisonment by one he has befriended.

Mabel Taliaferro, in "The Barricade," does some splendid work in this interesting and unusual story play.

At the theater on Saturday Robert Harron gave a realistic character, "An Old-Fashioned Man," who was chivalrous, courteous, and innocent in the world's ways. He has a lot of trouble but wins out at last.

On Sunday a really good play was presented in "Paddy O'Hara." He was seen as a light-hearted Irish gentelman, gallant, love and courteous man in war, a great representative in Italy at the beginning of the present war. His dashing adventures and tender love making were well depicted. "The Easiest Way," as depicted by Clara Kimball Young, showed the pitfalls in the path to the young actress who was unable to secure recognition for her work under the patronage of a rich man. It also enforced a powerful lesson in showing how hard it was for a woman to live on the level after once enjoying the luxury of the "easiest way." And the inevitable repentance and death by suicide was shown with consummate art.

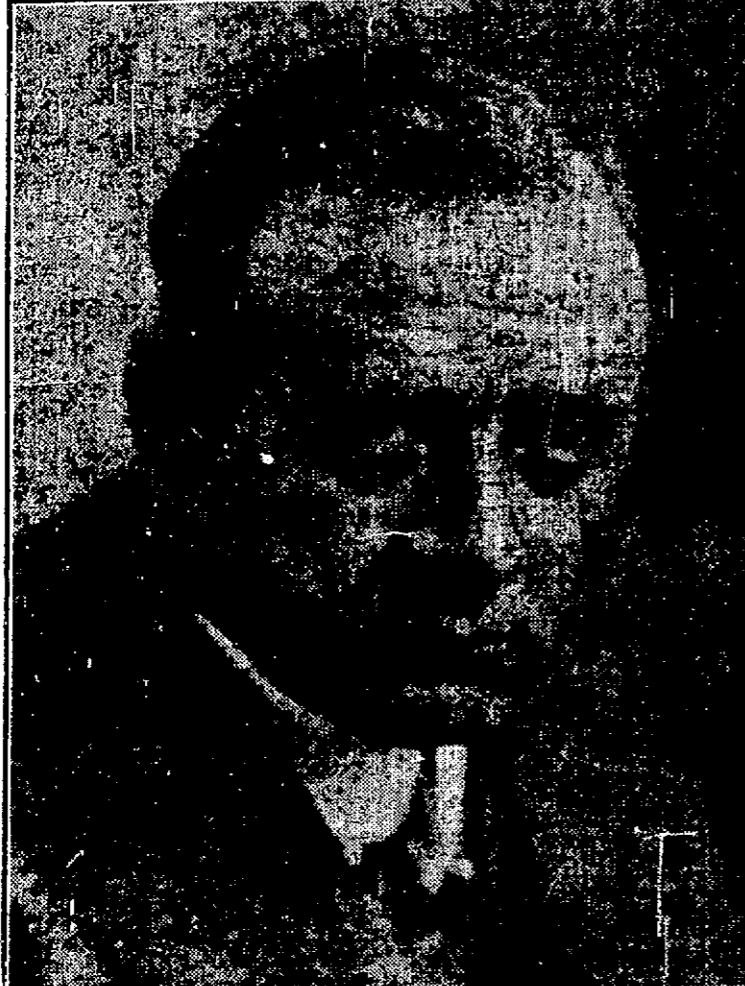

"Filling His Own Shoes" is a splendid story well told by Bryant Washburn.

The intelligent bear seen in the vaudeville this past week at the Apollo was an attractive feature. The little Sunday play was also very good.

"The Merchant's Millions," seen on Monday, was a realistic and interesting story of the queer experiences of an Italian truck farmer suddenly endowed with a fortune. A man of sharp wit foisted themselves upon him, to get him unmercifully and try to induce his wife to get a divorce. The fortune is lost by the unexpected discovery of important papers and the humble pair and their baby return to happiness in their truck garden. On Tuesday Charlie Chaplin in his "Review" had a more pretentious review than usual. On Wednesday, Blanch Sweet, as "The Silent Partner" played the rôle of a faithful and hardworking stenographer who saves her employer's business and life happiness, in spite of herself. She is made a half partner and finally the better half.

Gladys Hulette, star of "The Shine Girl," "Prudence the Plague," "Pots and Pans Peggie," "Her New York" and "The Candy Girl," will be seen in a new picture, "The Cigarette Girl" to be released this month.

"The Cigarette Girl" gives the story of a young and innocent girl who supports her elderly mother and herself by selling cigars and cigarettes in a fashionable restaurant. An alliance with a good-for-nothing lounger, at whose behest she subsequently marries a young man of great wealth, who in that manner avoids the toils of a blackmailing woman and her husband, opens the ways for a story of sustained interest.

BILL HART'S HORSE William S. Hart has signified his patriotism and loyalty to Uncle Sam by announcing that he will change from the name of his favorite horse from Biscuit to one more truly American, for he is a true American horse and stands ready and willing at any time to lead a cavalry charge in defense of the red white and blue. He was unfortunate in his early youth in having bestowed upon him a name that recent international events, over which he had no control, have made distasteful and unbearable for any self-respecting Yankee equine.

Wallace Irwin has taken some of the most amusing incidents in the life of his famous character creation, Hashimura Togo, and woven them into a photoplay. ## Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sure I have lost the respect of a certain boy. He is a very nice boy, and gentlemanly; he is also very particular with whom he goes. This happened before I thought very much about kissing and did not know it did any harm to let a boy kiss you. This boy has taken me home from church, parties, etc., about four times. I always liked him, but I don't know if he has ever acted the way he did. Act the way you have decided is right in the future and he will respect you and everybody else will, too.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Could you advise me on these questions:

(1) I have a girl friend fifteen years old. She wishes to go to high school. Her parents refuse to consent. Is there any way in which she can possibly get to go?

(2) Is it proper for a girl to wear a fellow's first pin?

(3) I used to let two certain fellows kiss me and now they can't seem to understand when I say no.

(4) What is correct to wear at a picnic?

(5) About four months ago I went with a young man a while, then he stopped asking for dates. He called the other night. Should I go again?

(6) Get some books and study at the same lessons the classes are studying at school.

(7) If she is engaged to him it is all right; but not otherwise.

(8) Continue to be positive in your answer and soon they will understand that you mean it.

(9) Wash dresses, or white skirt and waist is preferable.

(10) It would be all right to do it if you like.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) There is a boy that I go with who always gets angry when I do not go with him. I tell him that I can't go and he thinks I am lying to him. What shall I do?

(2) Why do you suppose he does not believe me?

(3) Do you think he also tells lies if he thinks I do?

(4) DOLLY DIMPLES.

(5) Don't do anything. If he doesn't believe you when you tell the truth it is his loss.

(6) Why bother about that?

(7) Not necessarily.

to me makes you want more. I wanted more of those kisses. The second time he took me home he kissed me with us and I wouldn't let him kiss me. The fourth time he kissed me I did not like his kiss as well as I had the rest. It always seemed to me after that that the boy did not like me anymore. He speaks tips his hat, and says a few words once in awhile, but he don't talk. I would hate to think that this boy has no respect for me. I would make my mother was hurtful, but I am not. I am a good girl and one other time are the only things I have one that I am ashamed of.

I would do anything to win back this boy's respect. I am sure you know of something to tell me. Do you think I want to go with him, because I do not. I just want his respect. He goes with one of the sweetest girls in town and have boy friends on my own. I don't care if he never talks to me again just so he doesn't think I am cheap and silly.

MISS MISHAWAKA.

Baking Powder

Baking powders are employed in baking to produce a result in a short time which would require more time if produced by yeast, namely, leavening.

Yeast produces the leavening gas, carbonic oxide (carbonic acid gas), by the slow fermentation and breaking down of sugar or starch. But baking powder produces the gas from the chemical action of one of its constituents (an acid substance, carbonic acid, or bicarbonate, or bicarbonate of potassium, boric acid, or tartaric acid may be used as the acid ingredient).

When a tartar baking powder is used, one of the resulting ingredients in the bread will be Rochelle salt, but of course in too minute a quantity to produce any apparent laxative effect.

Alum makes the bread white, but goodness knows it is too white and insipid anyway nowadays. There has been great controversy over the question of the influence of alum in baking powders upon the health. Personally, although very fond of good health and happy digestion, I don't care a picayune whether alum or tartaric or phosphate powder is used for my biscuits. I could eat 'em hot anyway.

Would the mother be likely to be an invalid after the birth of the baby?

(Mrs. R. S. A.)

ANSWER.—SHE house-cleaning unregenerate women! Never will you come to that bad habit. A woman can't be happy without it. Possibly inserting loose pledges of lamb's wool in each nostril and lambing every hour or two when raising Cain about the house would exclude considerable dust. Better, however, is not cleaning house. It is an obsolete practice. It is like using an antiseptic in wounds; we don't do it.

The aspergillum has dispensed the antiseptic era—that is, we keep clean instead of cleaning house.

Goitre is a Disease of Youth

I am twenty and have an exophthalmic goitre. Am I not rather young to be so afflicted? I am constantly conscious of my heart beating—it beats about 118 a minute. Are these goitres ever successfully operated upon? Can they be? What is an operation operation? Is such an operation dangerous? Would pregnancy aggravate this type of goitre? Would it have any effect upon the baby? Would the mother be likely to be an invalid after the birth of the baby?

(Mrs. R. S. A.)

ANSWER.—No, goitre is most frequently observed in young people. Severe cases may demand operation, but mild cases like the one you give are best cured by an incision, plus medication adapted to individual conditions.

The operation for exophthalmic goitre is of course serious, owing to the bad condition of the patient, but often less dangerous than the disease itself will be if not controlled.

Pregnancy may greatly aggravate exophthalmic goitre. It would never affect the baby, excepting as an effect of health in the mother.

Nature interferes with normal nutrition and growth of the baby. If confinement were successfully weaned the mother would probably gain in health afterward.

THE BEST PEOPLE.

There is a woman in our town who from rather humble beginnings has claimed to quite an eminence of culture and intellectual superiority.

We were wondering the other day how she made so much of herself and one of her relatives explained proudly, "Ever since she was a girl she has made it a point to associate only with people who were superior to her."

I've heard something like that said of people before, and while it sounds good at first, it seems to me there is a kick in it.

How Could Everyone Associate With Superior People

Namely, if everybody tried to do that, what would happen?

If everyone is so intent on self culture that he will not associate with anyone inferior to him, how on earth could anyone get a chance to associate with anyone who was superior?

It seems to me, too, that there would be something not wholly admirable about a person who cold-bloodedly picked out all his friends not because he liked them but because he thought he could get something out of them.

A Form Of Toadstool

When people try to ingratiate themselves with friends from whom they expect material advantages, we have a short and ugly term for them. Now isn't this trying to associate always with one's superior, a sort of intellectual toadstool?

Another thing, how can people determine so clearly who are their superiors? One often finds superiors in people who are theoretically their inferiors.

One of the most stimulating philosophers I ever met was a ragged, dirty little sweat shop tailor. I have often had my mind wonderfully

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer personally all letters pertaining to matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper, if accompanied by a two cent stamp.)

Do not talk to the person who is talking over the telephone.

MARCELLA: Yes, it is proper for you to talk over the telephone to your mother in her automobile; but when you arrive, get out of the car promptly, so that the young man will not have to remind you that he will have to take his car and go home. I think a man twenty-five is somewhat to old to keep company with a girl of sixteen. You'd better go with a girl of seventeen.

THE GAZETTE'S MOTORIST PROBLEM DEPARTMENT

(PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.)

Motoring Department. The Gazette

I have recently purchased a Ford car. Am a regular reader of your Motoring Department and that answers to the following question which I have recently asked.

What serious damage is done to an automobile motor when the water in the cooling system has boiled over, and the car is run on an overheated motor?

What conditions (other than running and otherwise) is due the excessive heat that causes the motor to overheat?

(3) What provision can be made to prevent a motor from overheating when the oil cools?

(4) Which is the best cooling system for an automobile and why?

(5) What would be the worst experience or damage to a motor caused by an overheated motor?

Would it destroy

the engine in an early reply.

J. M. G.

(6) No serious damage will be done to a motor if it runs too cold, if too long overheated the pistons would seize, and engines be bent.

(7) The most frequent cause of overheating is ignition on a low gear.

Motoring Department. The Gazette

I have a Champion Starter. Would it be possible for a woman to use?

Enclosed find self-addressed envelope.

Q.

You will find this starts very satisfactory as it will save you the trouble of getting out of the car in case you happen to stall the motor.

J. M. P.

It would seem that low speed adjustment of carburetor is not set correctly, giving too much air and too little speed.

After setting up to 28 miles per hour, the engine is perfect. I have an Atwater Kent ignition system and Stromberg carburetor.

The valve stems are somewhat worn. Do you think that may be cause of trouble?

An early reply will be appreciated.

J. M. P.

Motoring Department. The Gazette

In your last issue you gave a list of renovated starters for a motor coil. As my ignition system uses one motor coil,

I should like to know the advantages of a single coil system such as used on the new Ford.

Having only one coil the spark is of the same intensity for each cylinder. This gives the same force to each explosion providing the explosive is enough.

The ignition points are open and are separated with a hammer blow it gives the highest possible spark which is certain to ignite the mixture when the engine is run at idle.

The spark always occurs

at the same point of piston travel in every stroke.

IN PECIAL TO THE GAZETTE

Madison, Wis., June 30.—The fish and game bill, which will be signed by Governor Phillip early next week, is the most comprehensive measure along this line ever enacted by the Wisconsin legislature, is the opinion of Assemblyman F. W. Graass of Sturgeon Bay, who, with Assemblyman Newcom Spoor, led the fight for the important features of the bill. Although in the opinion of Mr. Graass the bill is not fully perfected for the conservation of fish on the commercial side, it is such a step in advance that Mr. Graass believes that future legislatures will easily be able to make improvements. He declares that the game fish of the state have been protected in every way against "pot" fishermen.

Among the important changes in the fish and game law are:

Affects Non-Residents.

On the game fish side of the bill non-residents are only allowed to make three shipments not to exceed twenty pounds each on their licenses. All non-resident fishermen must pay a license fee of one dollar and to this license is attached a coupon which permits the shipment of three fish signatures. A coupon must accompany each shipment of fish. This provision is incorporated to prohibit non-residents coming into this state and going into the fishing business on a commercial basis.

The bill allows a non-resident female to fish without a license, but if she desires to make any shipments of fish she must secure a license in order to have the accompanying coupons.

Resident hook and line fishermen need not secure a license, but are limited to shipments within the state, and in order to ship outside the state, they must secure a permit. This provision, it is said, will be checked on "pot" fishermen, who go into the business on commercial basis.

To conserve the supply of black bass in the state the season for black bass fishing, which formerly opened on May 31, will after this year open on June 13, except in a few of the inland lakes, the Oswego or green bass will be caught after May 28. This provision is incorporated to prevent the fish during the spawning season, having been demonstrated that black bass caught on or about June 1 were still filled with spawn. This bill also prevents the sale of black bass.

Commercial Fishing Regulated.

On the side of commercial fishing the important change is the stating of the legal size of trout, whitefish and perch.

Formerly any size trout and whitefish could be shipped and sold. Under the new bill it will be unlawful to ship whitefish of less than thirteen inches in length, trout less than eight inches, and perch less than eight inches. In the opinion of men who are versed in fishing this is considered one of the most important features of the bill from a conservation standpoint. This feature resulted in a protracted debate as to whether the length of perch caught should be seven or eight inches. The bill, however, that in incorporation of a measure to limit the size of the perch to eight inches and the other fish as stated above. The state is spending thousands of dollars this provision, in opinion of Assemblyman E. A. Everett will conserve the fish until they reach a market size. The nest of trout on the great lakes was placed at two and one-half inches mesh while that of taking of trout and whitefish was placed at four inches. The license fees upon all commercial fishermen was increased slightly.

A separate resolution was also passed petitioning Wisconsin congressmen and senators to have the federal government take over the supervision of the fish industry on the great lakes. This was done in order to secure uniform laws governing fishing on the great lakes and the state bordering thereon.

"One Buck" Law Repealed.

The "one buck" law was repealed and in its place a provision was incorporated permitting the shooting of one deer of either sex. The season has been shortened ten days, and will meet the objections heretofore raised by the hunters over the one buck law, and no doubt will do much to conserve the deer.

The muskrat season has been left practically as it was before.

The shooting of partridges has been prohibited for two years, while the opening and closing of the rabbit season was provided for to meet the requirements of the country as the members of that district required.

The open season for ducks and aquatic fowls was specified in the new bill from September 7 to December 10. Heretofore duck hunters were not allowed to shoot until sunrise, but under the bill passed they will be permitted to shoot thirty minutes before sunrise. This provision was passed by the leading duck hunters of the state.

Wide Supervision Given.

Another provision of the bill gives the state conservation commission wider powers of supervision and for the enforcing of the law which was enacted by the legislature. The penalties for violation of any provision of the bill are greatly increased over those existing in the former fish and game statutes.

There was probably no bill that received more complete discussion than the fish and game measure. It was the subject of long committee hearings at which men from various sections of the state appeared and presented arguments in support of advice of an all man familiar with each line of operation was obtained and given consideration. Aside from the revision of the statutes measure, the bill was one of the longest in the legislature. The provisions of the bill will become effective as soon as the measure has been signed and published.

There is some objection to various provisions of the bill.

4TH RACE MATINEE EXPECTED TO DRAW LARGE ATTENDANCE

Plan of Driving Park Directors to Give Twenty-Five Per Cent of Profit to Co. M. to Get Response.

Janesville followers of racing are looking forward to a big treat on the afternoon of the Fourth when the Driving Park Association opens the local season with a matinee of four races and a feature spurt in the attempt to lower the track record of 2:04 1/4.

Twenty-five percent of the proceeds will be donated to Co. M's jewel casket, fifty will be divided among the horsemen and for expenses and the remaining twenty-five will go to the association.

The first race is the 2:24 trot. Eight horses are entered and the same number will start in the 2:25 pace.

The 2:14 trot has attracted five starters.

All the horses come from the stables training at the track and the matinee is expected to set up definite results as to the speed of one horse against another, questions of this nature having been a bone of contention among the drivers and stablemen for weeks.

Phil Stock of the Chicago Garden City team has been secured to replace Kingman, the shortstop and "Packy" Conwell, ex-Fairy will displace Goodman at second.

Looking over the front of the past two games and considering the additions it seems that at last a team, strong from end to end, has been secured, that is taking into consideration the reputation of the new players and their ability to go the distance.

Joe and "Hister" Delaney will be on the first line of defense. "Kitty" Knight will be over at first, the new man, Cannell, covers second and Kerman will be on third. In the field aside from Myers and Manager Cole will be the second recruit, Stock.

Pelzeker and Rathkamp will do the batter work for Milwaukee. The game will be started early, neither being held at 2 sharp, so that the visitors can return on the 4:30 o'clock train.

of Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson in company with Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bach of Chicago have undertaken the care of the three Flemming sisters, Ruth Rose, Grace Josphine, and Helen Dorothy, all of whom are under eleven years of age.

Ruth Rose is now living at the Anderson home, and the other two sisters are with Mrs. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Bach. The girls have formerly lived with their grandmother, following the death of their parents some time ago.

"Home of Character"—No. 1015

A Snug, Smart Inexpensive Bungalow

Cottage bungalow No. 1015 presents an unusually distinct treatment of the low cost home. The lines are low. The sloping roof between the twin gables covers a cozy porch. The house embodies the convenient arrangement of the center hall type, the exterior is designed for stucco without the drawbacks of the usual stucco job.

In this house, bisphoric board is placed directly upon a studding and covered with Kellastone finished with a granite dash. This gives the beauty of a stone house, and yet this house can be built complete for a bit less than it would cost in frame.

It is worthy of note that the finish is permanent, so that no painting will be required. The main portion of the house is 34 x 26 feet, and the building can be erected complete, including small basement with furnace and laundry, for $2800.

Blue prints and specifications for this house can be obtained from Robinson Greene, in care of this department, for $15.

Inquiries of Gazette readers addressed to "Robinson Greene, Homes of Character Dept., The Gazette" will be given Mr. Greene's prompt attention. Always give the number of the home concerning which inquiry is made, and, as the service is free, the inclosure of a stamp for reply will be appreciated.
